Eclipse Contributor Agreement

Version 23.0.0  August 22, 2016  October 22, 2018

This is a reference copy of the terms of the Eclipse Contributor Agreement. To actually complete and submit an ECA, please go to the ECA form.

Thank you for your interest in one or more projects managed by the Eclipse Foundation, Inc. ("Eclipse Foundation"). In order for You (as defined below) to make intellectual property Contributions (as defined below) now or in the future to Eclipse Foundation projects, You must agree to this Eclipse Contributor Agreement ("ECA"). If You have any questions about this agreement, licensing, or anything related to intellectual property at the Eclipse Foundation, please send an email to license@eclipse.org.

Please read this ECA carefully before accepting its terms. By accepting the ECA, You are agreeing to be bound by its terms. If You want to accept this ECA, complete the form completely, print a copy for Your records, and when ready, press the “Accept” button at the end of this form.

As used in this ECA: (i) “You” (or "Your") shall mean the entity that is making this Agreement with the Eclipse Foundation; (ii) “Contribution” shall mean any original work of authorship, including any modifications or additions to an existing work, that is submitted by You to the Eclipse Foundation for inclusion in, or documentation of, any of the Eclipse Foundation projects; and (iii) “Submit” (or “Submitted”) means any form of communication sent to the Eclipse Foundation (e.g. the content You post on electronic mailing lists, forums, content management systems, source code control systems, code review systems, issue tracking systems, etc. that are used by the Eclipse Foundation).

This agreement applies to all Contributions You Submit.

This ECA, and the license(s) associated with the particular Eclipse Foundation projects You are contributing to, provides a license to Your Contributions to the Eclipse Foundation and downstream consumers, but You still own Your Contributions, and except for the licenses provided for in this ECA, You reserve all right, title and interest in Your Contributions. In addition to the above, You grant a non-exclusive, worldwide, perpetual, royalty-free license of all necessary rights under Your copyright in and to Your Contributions (the “Specification Grant”): (a) for the Eclipse Foundation (and its contributors solely as a part of foundation projects) to create, reproduce, prepare derivative works of, publicly display, publicly perform, distribute and sublicense specifications subject to the terms of the then-current Eclipse Foundation Specification License, based on or derived from the Specification Content (as defined below) and (b) for recipients of such specifications to create, reproduce, and distribute implementations thereof based on the portion of Your Contributions or material derived from them in the specifications, subject to the terms of the then-current Eclipse Foundation Specification License.

“Specification Content” is the collection of interface definitions for the Application or User interfaces ("Interfaces") provided by the work to which Your Contribution was made, descriptions of the structure and semantic behavior of those Interfaces, and data formats and protocols associated with those Interfaces, all of which as are reasonably necessary to enable the development of independent implementations of those Interfaces. For the sake of clarity, Specification Content does not include implementation detail of how the Eclipse project code or Your Contribution implements the Interfaces in the Specification and the Specification Grant provide above would not cover such additional material.

The Eclipse Foundation requires that each Contribution You Submit now or in the future to comply with the following commitments documented in the Developer Certificate of Origin (DCO). To confirm that You have read and agreed to each, please click on the box beside each one.
